Information about the Middle States Commission on Higher Education

The Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE) is one of seven regional accrediting organizations in the United States and is recognized by the U.S. Secretary of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA). MSCHE is an institutional accreditor. Therefore, MSCHE examines and reaffirms accreditation for each of its member institutions as a whole rather than the specific programs within the institution. MSCHE does not approve individual programs. MSCHE accreditation does not expire but is reevaluated and monitored on a regular and consistent basis in accordance with the institution’s assigned accreditation review cycle.

Jeanne A. Matthews, PhD, RN
Chair
Department of Nursing
Georgetown University
St. Mary's Hall, 3700 Reservoir Road, NW, Box 571107
Washington, DC 20057-1107

Dear Dr. Matthews:

The Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education’s (CCNE) Board of Commissioners acted at its meeting on October 10-12, 2013, to grant accreditation to the baccalaureate and master’s degree programs in nursing at Georgetown University for 10 years, extending to December 31, 2023. These accreditation actions are effective as of February 25, 2013, which is the first day of the programs’ recent CCNE on-site evaluation. You should plan for the next on-site evaluation to take place in the spring of 2023.

At its meeting, the Board determined that the programs met all four accreditation standards. The Board additionally determined that there are no compliance concerns with respect to the key elements.

As is required for all accredited programs, a Continuous Improvement Progress Report (CIPR) must be submitted at the mid-point of the accreditation term. The CIPR must address the nursing programs’ continued compliance with all accreditation standards. The deadline for submitting the progress report to CCNE is December 1, 2018. The Report Review Committee, and then the Board of Commissioners, will review the progress report. For more information about CIPRs, please refer to the CCNE procedures.

Please note that the aforementioned CIPR needs to address the CCNE standards that are in effect at the time of submission. In the reminder letter sent approximately five months prior to the CIPR due date, CCNE will inform the program of the specific standards to be used and will provide guidance for the preparation of the report.

A copy of the accreditation report that was sent to you earlier, along with your response to it, is being transmitted to the institution’s chief executive officer as the Commission’s official report to Georgetown University. We hope that both the results of the self-study process and the accreditation report will be useful to the continued growth and development of the nursing programs. Certificates of accreditation are forthcoming.

If a program elects to make public disclosure of a program’s CCNE accreditation status, the program or institution must disclose that status accurately. Either of the following statements may be used for disclosure of the accreditation status to the public:

The (baccalaureate/master’s/DNP program) at (institute) is accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, One Dupont Circle, NW, Suite 530, Washington, DC 20036, 202-887-6791.

The (baccalaureate/master’s/DNP program) at (institute) is accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (http://www.aacn.nche.edu/ccne-accreditation).
For more information on CCNE's disclosure policy, as well as information on use of the CCNE accreditation seal, please visit http://www.aacn.nche.edu/ccne-accreditation/seal-policy/baccalaureate-graduate.

As a reminder, programs are expected to continue to comply with the current CCNE standards and procedures throughout the period of accreditation. These documents are available at http://www.aacn.nche.edu/ccne-accreditation/standards-procedures-resources/baccalaureate-graduate. This includes advising CCNE in the event of any substantive change in the nursing programs. Substantive change notifications must be submitted to CCNE no earlier than 90 days prior to implementation or occurrence of the change, but no later than 90 days after implementation or occurrence of the change. These reporting requirements are discussed further in the CCNE Procedures.

We appreciate the many courtesies and the helpfulness extended to the CCNE evaluation team in the spring of 2013. The Commissioners join me in expressing our best wishes as you proceed with tasks important to the future of your nursing programs.

Sincerely,

Linda M. Caldwell, DNSc, ANP-BC
Chair, Board of Commissioners

NURO-548 Advanced Physiology and Pathophysiology

Credits: 4 | Prerequisites: Undergraduate Course in Physiology/Pathophysiology

This course presupposes a basic knowledge of human physiology and pathophysiology. Topics are covered from a molecular, cellular, tissue, organ, and system perspective, and related to disease states that are important to advance nursing practice. The focus of this course is to impart concepts of advanced physiology and pathophysiology that are elemental to advanced practice nursing based on a comprehensive understanding of the patient’s underlying physiological and disease processes and their impact on the plan of care. Emphasis is also placed on integrating and conceptualizing information gained from many sources to develop a diagnosis and a plan of care for clients of all ages, with any disease states.

NURO-528 Advanced Health Assessment

Credits: 3 | Prerequisites: NURO-548

This course focuses on providing students with advanced knowledge and skills in the health assessment of individuals across the life span within the context of the advanced practice role. Emphasis is placed on the collection, interpretation, and synthesis of relevant historical, genetic, biological, cultural, psychosocial, and physical data for the development of a comprehensive and holistic health assessment. Evidence-based practice concepts related to health promotion/disease prevention are introduced. Critical thinking and diagnostic reasoning skills are developed.

NURO-544 Advanced Concepts in Pharmacology

Credits: 3 | Prerequisites: None

This course focuses on the pharmacologic concepts important to advanced practice nurses. The course will initially provide the student with an understanding of fundamental pharmacological principles such as pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, drug metabolism, and dose response relationships. The primary focus of the course will then be to study the major pharmacological classes surrounding disease processes.

Students will be challenged to develop the moral agency and ethical skills essential for ethical practice in today’s world. Students will also be challenged to analyze when health care as it is currently being practiced advances the human flourishing of all (with special concern for vulnerable populations) — and when it falls short. This course promotes the formation of the type of moral agency essential to excellent practice.

NURO-539 Professional Role of the Advanced Practice Nurse

research methods commonly used by the health care provider in systematic clinical inquiry. Use of research design and methodology along with analytic tools will assist the learner to evaluate clinical issues. Emphasis is given to the application of statistical methods in the evaluation of clinical questions, focusing on selection and application of appropriate statistical procedures.

The course will provide a broad framework for understanding and applying commonly used research methodologies and data analysis techniques in health care research. Basic concepts of interpretation and application of statistics are included, such as types of distributions, concepts of significance testing, and discussion of basic descriptive statistics. The student is introduced to common non-parametric and parametric statistical tests of association and trend analysis, including a practical experience with various methods to manage a data set. Qualitative techniques of data analysis based on ethnography, critical social theory, phenomenology, and grounded theory are also applied.

NURO-540 Research Evidence and Best Practices in Health Care
Credits: 3 | Prerequisites: NURO-530

This course is designed to prepare the master’s-level nursing student to critically evaluate knowledge, research, and evidence for implementation of best practices in health care. Students will formulate and conceptualize clinical research questions, critically appraise the evidence, and synthesize research findings to develop an innovative evidence-based practice and design an implementation plan.
