Retention rates give the percentage of the 2015 first-time, full-time undergraduate cohort that returned for the second year.

Graduation rates are six-year rates for the 2010 cohort of first-time, full-time undergraduates.

University of Maryland, Baltimore is excluded because it does not enroll first-time freshmen.

University of Maryland University College is excluded because it primarily serves the adult, part-time population.

Pell Grant Recipients are students receiving Pell during the year of entry to the four-year institution.

Statewide figure includes University of Maryland University College (UMUC).

Data provided by individual institutions

The analysis cohort includes students who attempted at least 18 credit hours within the first two years after initial matriculation.

&quot;College ready" are students who were assessed not to need remediation in any subject area.

&quot;Developmental completers" are students who were assessed to need remediation in at least one subject area and completed all required remedial coursework.

&quot;Developmental non-completers" are students who were assessed to need remediation in at least one subject area and did not complete all required remedial coursework.

&quot;Successful persisters" are students who, within four years after initial enrollment, have completed at least 30 credit hours with a GPA of 2.00 or better, have graduated and/or transferred, or are still enrolled at the institution.

In FY 2016, the Maryland Community College Research Group adopted a standard reporting method for all institutions. Data since FY 2016 are based on dividing what a full-time student taking 30 credits in an academic year would pay on a "per credit" basis. Tuition and fee charges at some institutions may vary based upon a student's enrollment, so the actual "per-credit" tuition and fees for an individual student may vary slightly from these institutional data. Prior to FY 2016, institutions utilized different methods of incorporating fees into reporting of their tuition and fee data.
