Maryland Higher Education Enrollment Breaks Through the 300,000 Level

The following report highlights enrollment data submitted by the State's colleges and universities. Final numbers may vary slightly due to students enrolling or dropping out by November 15, the last date on which 2003 enrollment figures are reported to the Maryland Higher Education Commission. Binah Institute of Advanced Judaic Studies did not submit 2003 figures, so the actual 2002 numbers were repeated for 2003 in this report.

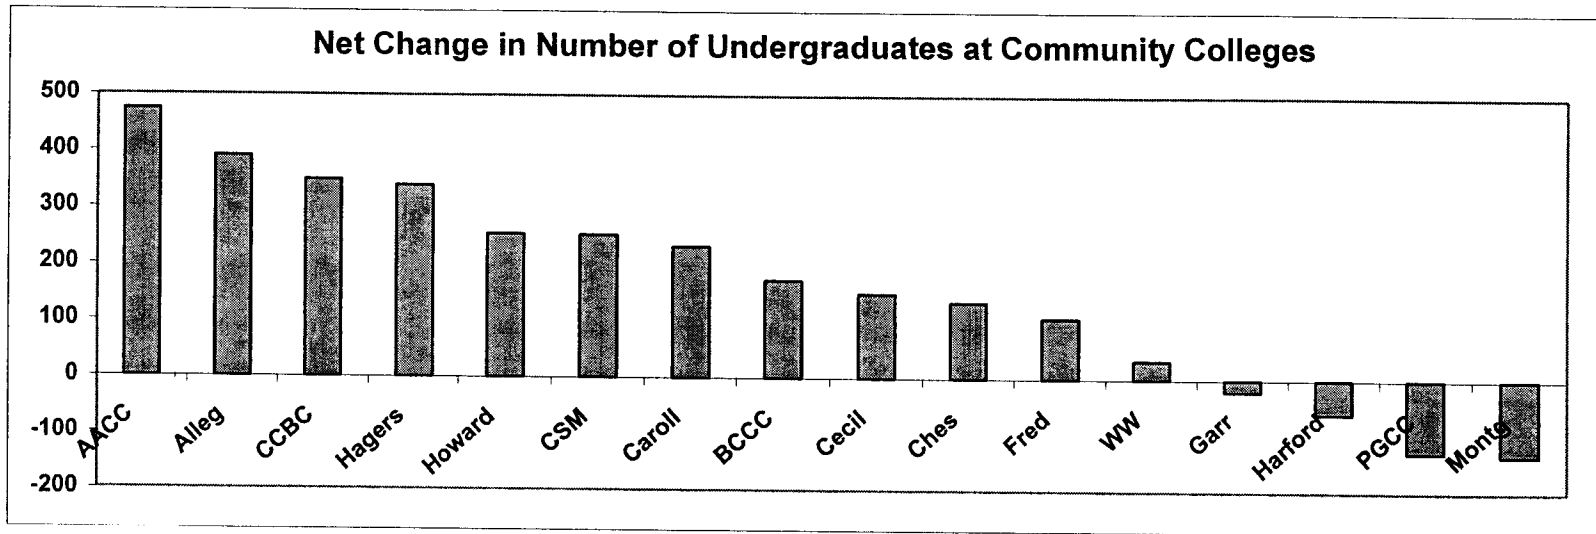

- Total headcount enrollment at Maryland's colleges and universities rose by 2.3 percent, or 6,884 students, to a record high of 305,895. This is the first time in which the number of students exceeded 300,000. However, the rate of growth slowed somewhat from that of the previous two years.
 - During the past 20 years, total enrollment in Maryland has grown by 28.2 percent. This marks the seventh year in a row of enrollment increases.
 - Community colleges were responsible for 36.9 percent of the statewide increase, growing by 2.2 percent. Public four-year colleges and universities, which grew by 2.0 percent, accounted for 37.7 percent of the statewide growth. Independent colleges and universities increased enrollment by 3.3 percent and represented 25.4 percent of total growth.
- Most (58.8 percent) of the enrollment increase was attributable to a 3.0 percent rise in the number of full-time undergraduates. Full-time undergraduates have grown for 10 consecutive years-- by 27.8 percent since 1993. Full-time undergraduate enrollment increased in all sectors: community colleges (4.2 percent), public four-year colleges and universities (1.8 percent), and independent institutions (4.8 percent). Almost half of the rise in the number of full-time undergraduates among independent campuses is attributable to growth at TESST College of Technology.

- Part-time undergraduate enrollment increased for the third consecutive year, inching up by 1.0 percent. Part-time undergraduate enrollments rose by 1.2 percent at the community colleges. The growth in part-time undergraduates at the public four-year institutions was due almost entirely to a 6.4 surge in these students at University of Maryland University College.
- The number of first-time, full-time students increased by 1.6 percent to an all-time high of 33,899. Enrollments rose by 5.5 percent at the independent campuses and by 1.2 percent at the community colleges, while they were flat at the public four-year institutions due in part to the decision of several campuses to limit admissions of these students for quality or capacity reasons.
- Full- and part-time graduate and professional enrollments were the highest on record. The number of full-time students rose by 3.1 percent, while part-time enrollments increased by 3.0 percent. This is the 10th consecutive year of growth for full-time graduate and professional enrollments, and the sixth straight year for part-time students.
- Among public four-year institutions, UMUC experienced the highest one-year growth rate (7.6 percent) and also gained by far the most in terms of numbers of students. This is the fifth year in a row that UMUC led the public four-year institutions in enrollment growth. All but four of the State's public four-year institutions increased their total headcount over last year. Enrollment decreased at Coppin State College, Salisbury University, Towson University, and Morgan State University.

- All but four community colleges experienced enrollment gains. The highest percentage increase came at Allegany College of Maryland (12.0 percent and 390 students) and Hagerstown Community College (11.9 percent and 339 students). Headcount enrollment declined at Garrett College, Harford Community College, Montgomery College, and Prince Georges Community College.

- Of the 17 state-aided independent colleges and universities, enrollment rose at 10 and declined at seven.
- Women continued to outnumber men at Maryland colleges and universities, comprising 59.5 percent of all students. Women made up more than three-quarters of the total enrollment growth at the State's campuses.
